

Weintraub Telecomm, LLC (WeiTel) Adds Engineers to Meet New Business Requirements

Growth Spurs Staff Additions

KING OF PRUSSIA, PA, June 5, 2007 – WeiTel, a leading nationwide provider of network design-and-build services to the cable and wireless telecommunications industries, announced today the addition two engineers to its staff.

According to Bruce Weintraub, President and Founder, “the addition of these experienced individuals reflects the need to support the growth we are experiencing as a company. Our market demand is strong and we expect to make additional staff increases throughout the year.” The key staff additions include:

- Lorenzo “Larry” Davalos, who joins Weitel as a Broadband Network Engineer. He was formerly a Senior Network Engineer with Disney World where he helped design, service and support Disney’s vast wired and wireless network. He earned an associate’s degree in electronics technology from New Mexico Highlands University and has over twenty years of experience in information technology.
- Ron Moore is WeiTel’s new Staff Engineer, who joins WeiTel from Comcast. He began his 26 year cable career in the Time Warner organization in 1981. He moved to Continental Cablevision in 1984, which was purchased by Comcast in 1996.

“Our company’s value proposition is in large measure based on the quality professionals we can assign to assist our customer,” said Rob Heany, SVP – Engineering. “We are delighted to add these talented individuals to our staff.”

WeiTel continues to fill key positions created by the company’s expansion. Additional information is available at www.WeITel.com.
